

Jeremy Lee Atwood

October 3, 1974 - June 24, 2016

Jeremy was born to Kathy and Robert Atwood. In Salt Lake City. He has one sister Kimberly a Brother in-law Daniel Leavitt. 4 nieces & one nephew. And one surviving grandparent Diane Tyler. With several and Aunts & Uncles. They lived in several different houses until they finally moved in West Valley. He enjoyed camping and fishing and going to the family reunions while growing up. He had a learning disability so he attended several different schools growing up. He lived with his grandparents for a time when he was an adult. He met Tammy at age 19 and they married after a few months. They had no children between them. They were divorced 3 years later. While in high school he learned a meat cutting trade at the Jones Center, so he was able to acquire a job working at Reams cutting meat for approx a year and then at Jordan meats for a while. He worked about 6 months doing truck maintenance at Dick Simons trucking. He worked as a tire jockey at Jacks tires for a while. Then he worked at American fence company putting up fences. For a few years he did yard care for a company. He loved doing that job. For a time he lived in Arizona with his Uncle Terry and also did live on his own. Then returned back to Utah. He lived on and off with his grandparents and would help take care of them. In the meantime he met Rod, who became a good friend to Jeremy and we the family want to say thank you to Rod for all he did to help Jeremy. It is at Rods home where Jeremy passed away. Jeremy was a good hard worker and will forever be missed. His statement when you'd ask him how he was is "I'm ok!" And we all know now, he is. We Love you Jer!!

Cemetery

Elysian Burial Gardens

1075 East 4580 South

Salt Lake City, UT,

Comments

“ I've known Jeremy since he was probably about 11 he was the cutest little turd I don't really have any memories with him other than the last few years watching him live on the streets was hard but watching him when he would work was amazing he could put things together taking apart and make them work I mean the kid had a brain he was very smart very kind very loving and when he lived with Grandma you could just see the love he had for her and Grandpa and the things he did for them I will truly miss him but I'm glad he's where he's at now instead of on the street I will miss you Jeremy

Jody Tyler..sister inlaw - June 30, 2016 at 04:32 PM

“ Thanks Jody. <3

Kathy Atwood - December 12, 2016 at 11:29 PM

“ Jeremy was my best friend for years always consider him a brother I'm sad and sick I was not there when he needed me

jerry hensley - March 26, 2017 at 12:32 AM