

Kenneth Clyde Hoagland

January 28, 1948 - November 24, 2020

Kenneth (Ken) Clyde Hoagland, (72), a resident of Draper, Utah, passed away November 24, 2020 due to medical complications. Ken was born on January 28, 1948 to Clyde Roy Hoagland (Hoagy) and Dorothy Ann Thomas Hoagland (Dot) in Los Angeles California.

Being a faithful member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, and following in his father's and brother's footsteps, Ken served a mission for the church from March 1967 – March 1969. Ken served and loved the people of Scotland while he taught them about our Lord & Savior Jesus Christ. Ken also gained a greater love for his pioneer ancestors (Cunningham) who came from Scotland to the Salt Lake Valley, as new members of the Church.

As a young man Ken achieved the rank of Eagle Scout within The Boy Scouts of America, the highest accomplishment a Boy Scout can achieve by the age of 18. Upon his return from his mission in 1969, he became more fully invested in the Boy Scouts of America and as a Scout Leader, and helped several young men also achieve the rank of Eagle Scout. Ken realized how important the life-skills he acquired through the scouting program and in serving a mission developed him as a man, and desired to encourage and help others accomplish the same. Ken always had a nurturing heart and a desire to help others, and his heart broke for those with less-involved parents and for those young men who struggled, both in life and with their advancement through the scouting program. Ken was recognized by The Boy Scouts of America for these selfless efforts when he was presented the highest award given to scout leadership, the Silver Beaver Award. Ken was a registered Boy Scout for 52 years, and proudly wore his "50 year" scout pin. Two of Ken's sons (Brian and Christopher) achieved the rank of Eagle Scout with Ken's help, and to date 3 of his grandsons (Cameron Hoagland, Caleb Winfree, and Jaden Rodriguez) are also Eagle Scouts.

In 1974 while working for Redway Truck and Warehouse Company, his family's business, Ken Married Sheri Ann Heim, and together they had four children. Being a great father instantly became the priority in Ken's life; spending quality family time and providing good memories for his kids was of great importance to him.

Ken and Sheri divorced in 1983, but they remained constant and loving providers to their children. Ken remained single for several years while focusing on his children and career, but in 1995 Ken married the love of his life Cyndi, in the LDS San Diego Temple on August 4, 1995. As a bonus, Ken also gained three additional children; whom he unconditionally loved, and selflessly sacrificed for. It is because of the intentional love and nurturing provided by both Ken and Cyndi, that the Hoagland-Winfree blended family became just that, a family. It never mattered for a second whose children were whose, and unconditional love abounds between all members of this family.

Ken was an artist and loved to draw, sculpt, and build things. He was very detail oriented and took pride in doing his best at any task he (or his children) embarked on. Ken had early aspirations of using his artistic talents by becoming an architect, but his job and leadership experience and love of people lead him into a career of accounting and business management for several companies. Along the way he started a few of his own businesses including the current non-profit organization he started with Cyndi, CFH Group, which appropriately stood for “Center for Hugs”. Besides Ken’s love of the outdoors, nature, camping, and fireside guitar playing, Ken also thrived on anything that had to do with the sun and water. Swimming, water-polo, boating, waterskiing, sun-bathing and even snow skiing were some of Ken’s favorite activities, and he made a point to introduce them and several others into the lives of his family. If there were a “Silver Beaver” award for being a great husband, father, grandfather, brother, and friend, Ken Hoagland would have won it hands down, even though his time with all of us has unfortunately been cut short.

Ken leaves behind his wife of 25 years, Cynthia Ada Wade Winfree Hoagland (Cyndi), his four biological children: Brian Neil Hoagland (Melissa), Amber Renee Rodriguez (Isaac), Erin Nicole Brassfield (Jason), Neisha Michelle Pace (Gene); and 17 biological grandchildren. Equally loved and adored as his own, Ken also leaves behind Cyndi’s three children: Jonathan T. Winfree (Jared Unsell), Christopher D. Winfree (Paula) and Dianna Danielle Ogden (Michael), and 9 more beautiful grandchildren. Ken is also survived by his brothers Dennis (Mary Ellen) Hoagland, Robert (Alma) Hoagland and his sister Jana (Del) Goehring.

“ I have known the Hoagland’s for a long time, since Dianna and I were in high school together. I loved being at their house on the weekends. Ken and Cyndi always made me feel welcome. Ken was always smiling and playing around. If you needed something, he was there to help. He will be missed!

“ What a kind, loving, gentle man. His soothing presence will be missed by so many. He came into the Wade family 25 years ago when he married Cyndi. His love for her was obvious and brought a calmness and happiness to her that was clear to all who knew her. He easily integrated into the Wade family and was so accepting and loving to all, particularly his 3 new step children. One of my favorite times was when we joined Cyndi, Lori and him in Bryce Canyon. We had such a beautiful time. Ken trying his best to coach me through how to ride that horse. May he rest in peace.

“ I will be forever grateful that Ken chose to join our family 25 years ago by marrying my sister. His love for Cyndi was obvious in that grin of his, every time he looked at her. His love for his children and grandchildren showed in everything he did. Ken was always just 'there' standing by if needed. When I'd visit he was so sweet and we would have wonderful conversations. His calmness and steadiness and patience were always so welcomed and his quiet support was appreciated more than I could ever put in words. I think the words in 2 Nephi 31:20, used in the Hymn "Press Forward Saints" describe Ken so very well. He truly had steadfast faith in Christ having a perfect brightness of hope and love of God and love of all mankind. I saw this every time I was around Ken, whether it was at his home or on a trip in Mexico or digging his sister-in-law (me) out of 2 feet of snow when she spun the wheels of the car (after he had told her not too)trying to get out of his driveway (and he was, as usual, so patient about it), and when he was just stopping by my parents to take the trash cans in and check on them. He truly did have and shared, that love of God and mankind and always a perfect brightness of hope in all he did.

“ Such a good man. As a youth at church, I felt like I had a genuine relationship with him. At the time I didn't quite realize how important those are. He treated me as a youth but with the respect of an adult. There wasn't pretense, an attempt to “be cool” and absolutely no power tripping. He is one who makes me miss the days of my youth. I appreciate his positive influence in my life.

“ Ken is an incredible man, his friendship and example have been a great blessing in my life and the life of my family. We have been the beneficiaries of his selfless service and kindness in many ways. Encouraging and helping my boys stay on task in their scouting and church responsibilities was a selfless gift he provided us. The way he loved Cyndi and her children, when he came into their life and blended their families was a living example of patience, acceptance, kindness and true love to us. Ken is one of the very great ones and he will be sorely missed by the Gardners. And to his family thank you for bringing him into our life and for sharing him with us! Our love and prayers are with you.

“ Ken was very loving and Christlike. You could feel the love that he had for Cyndi and his big family when you were around him. I can still hear his voice in my head calling for Dianna when we were younger saying “Dianna Pollyanna”. He was a happy, kind man and he has left behind a beautiful legacy. Prayers and love to your amazing family.

“ Ken was one of my favorite scout leaders growing up. He had a way of making activities fun, while sticking to the fundamentals and core values of the scouting program. Even though I haven't seen him for years I was just thinking about him a couple weeks ago and remembering what a great guy he was. You will be missed Brother Hoagland. Thanks for the great memories! Prayers for the Hoagland and Winfree families during this difficult time.

“ We had the pleasure of being guests in Ken and Cyndi's home when they moved into our ward, an empty nest group was created and Ken was a gracious host. Red and I felt his kindness and his wonderful way to make everyone comfortable around him. Our hearts and prayers for his wife Cyndi.
