“ Likalio Ofahengaue was known to many as the 'Gentle Giant' 'King of Dominos' 'Heart of Gold' 'Love to work' and so many others but to me he was 'Dad'. He has been my hero from the day I entered this World. All my bad days, he was there to cheer me up. All my sad days, he was there to make me happy. All my days I would make wrong choices, he was there to never judge me but loved me unconditionally. When I did make good choices he praised me and praised me and praised me some more. My dad was the guy who had a deep voice, looked intimidating but had a heart full of love. He loved to love and he loved to feed everyone and when he did, it was the best meal they'd ever have. I love and miss my dad and sometimes I can't help but cry. Random times I cry to myself wishing this was all just a dream. I can go on and on about my dad but I'll save that in my heart. I love you dad, I hope I can make you proud. I made some promises to you and I promise to keep them. See you later daddy.

“ I had the opportunity to be associated with Lio at several meetings. I was impressed by his character. He was always kind, hard working and willing to help. I will miss him a lot. We worked at Mesa Meetings, Ed Equity meetings, and at cultural activities like the last Pacific Islander activity held at Granger. Lio was needed in another place for sure. My condolences to his family.
