“ I met Penny in Los Angeles in 2002 through mutual acquaintances. We hung out quite a bit for about 6 months, mostly going to see rock bands like The Brian Jonestown Massacre and Flash Express at clubs. She was definitely the nicest person I met in all of Los Angeles. She made me mix CDs of lots of music I'd never heard of before, let alone listened to. She had great taste in music. I moved home to Utah. She moved to Utah a year or so later. She played bass in a rock band with me. We lost touch. She holds a very special place in my heart. I will remember her always.

“ I remeber Penny when we worked together at CSRS. She always had a warm smile and friendly disposition. Her love of music and sense of humor made me love her more. I will never forget those happier times. Rest in eternal peace, my dear friend.

“ Our walks on Fletcher Parkway in El Cajon; the night the whole family took me, Manny and the kids to that Greek place with the dancing waiters or the other one that took forever to get to from your house in Chadsworth;; the time you and Vicky created a diversion at the Omelette Factory so that we could pay them a surprise visit; your smile, your deep love for your parents and family; my mother's love for you. To her you were an αθώο πλάσμα, innocent, loving and kind. Your spiritual, nurturing and healing nature. I love you Penny Giforos. Until we meet again.

“ My deepest condolences to your entire family. I worked with Pennyworked at the research company, and we socialized occassionally because we had a close mutual friend. I knew Penny was shy, but did not know she struggled with depression. Knowing this, I will always be mindful that in spite of her struggle, Penny was always so very kind to everyone, and try just a little bit harder in my own life. With love,

“ Many years ago, we worked together at a research company. Sporadically, I'd help out in her department. We got along right away. As time went on, eventually she left the company and we got back in contact on Facebook. We weren't close enough for her to confide in me, I had no knowledge of her struggles. She was very intelligent, well informed, witty, and extremely interesting. I liked her a lot. I was impressed with her artistic talents. I hope she knew how much she was appreciated. To her family and close friends, I extend my sympathies for your loss. I will miss her.
