“ There are so many memories that I had with my brother, it's so hard to name them. On his birthday 04/16/2021 we took Junior out to eat seafood for his birthday, he ordered a shrimp cocktail and they bring it out with a glass “cup/bowl-ish” when Junior received his cocktail he looked at me and whispered “how do I eat this? Do I drink it or use the spoon” I looked at him and said “you're lying right” while cracking up and he said “no for real hahah” and I told him “tell my mom” and we all started cracking up.

There were times where he's get off of work and come home relax for a bit and sneak off with my son to the gas station or the bank I would always have to call him to see if he took my son without asking and he'd say “yeah we'll be back”

Im the household I would always call Junior “Adalid” or “boo” im definitely going to big his big smile, his laughter, him constantly fighting with me about the dumbest things, him being sooo weird, him telling me that we look alike but he's just the better looking one. His little dance, him telling me “I love you so very hard” im gonna miss cooking eggs for him after work and telling me “thank you babe” or “thank you boo”
