

Calvin Clark Hutchings

June 26, 1948 - October 18, 2025

Calvin “Clark” Hutchings, beloved husband, father, grandfather, great-grandfather, friend, and proud Vietnam veteran, passed away peacefully on October 18, 2025, at the age of 77, surrounded by his loving family.

Born on June 26, 1948, in Provo, Utah to Calvin Bird and Margaret Clark Hutchings. He attended and graduated Hillcrest High School (1966) and attended BYU. He married the love of his life, Regina Lee Rowley, March 5, 1969 in Honolulu Hawaii.

Clark lived a life defined by hard work, service, laughter, and love. A man of deep integrity and faith, he believed that a person’s word and workmanship reflected their character—and he lived by that standard every day.

Clark proudly served his country as Sergeant during the Vietnam War (1967-1969) where his courage and dedication exemplified his lifelong sense of duty and patriotism. He earned a Bronze Medal and continued to honor and support fellow veterans throughout his life, teaching his family to respect those who serve and the freedoms they protect.

A hardworking man by nature, Clark built a long and respected career in construction. Known for doing things “the right way,” he was a loyal and dedicated employee who later became an independent consulting contractor —sharing his knowledge and experience with others. His work ethic and integrity were lessons he passed down to his daughters, sons-in-law, and grandchildren.

Clark was a no-nonsense kind of guy—until it was time for nonsense, and then he was right there. He believed there was a time and place for everything, and he lived by that balance. Though serious when it mattered, He could turn even a simple Saturday into something special—like a trip to the city dump followed by a cold drink and a candy bar. After a long day of work, he loved celebrating with his family over barbecues, game nights, and big bowls of ice cream.

Clark's family was everything to him. He made it his mission to bring his grandchildren together and create the best life he could for them. He planned fishing trips to the ocean, adventures collecting sea glass and shells, and even taught them the art of spitting on rocks to see what treasures they'd found. His storytelling was legendary—full of tales about Sasquatch and the unforgettable Booger Bob (if you know, you know). His grandkids will always remember making the perfect flan, turkey shoots, and delivering hams together at Christmas.

Generous and kind, Clark quietly helped anyone in need and always looked for ways to serve others. Clark's legacy of integrity, faith, service, hard work, and humor will live on through the countless lives he touched. He will be deeply missed and forever remembered by all who knew him.

Survived by his wife, Regina Lee Hutchings; his five daughters: Michelle Landry (Aron), Heather Silver, Tiffany Pardoe (Derk), Amber Miller (Chris), and Meredith Gundry (Cameron); 18 grandchildren: Connor Pardoe (Carli), Chase Silver (Brooke), Olivia Schow (Parker), Maddie Brasher (Brock), Braxten Pardoe (Madi), Kitai Landry, Trey Silver, Sophia Gundry, McKinna

Medina (David), Gabriel Landry, Emme Silver, Bridger Gundry, Burke Miller, Maycee Pardoe, Savannah Miller, Finn Gundry, Xander Gundry, and Bodee Miller; and 9 great grandchildren.

Preceded in death by his grandson, Asher Landry.

“ I wasn't ready to share at my father's funeral today, but I can't rest until I've passed on some of the things in my heart. I've not only learned lessons from my "larger than life" Dad, but have gained meaningful insights from losing him.

My mother is strong, capable, and long suffering. Beautiful inside and out. She loved my Dad, faults and all. Sisters are the best! No matter how different the five of us are, we come together beautifully. I'll never forget the love and support I've come to learn that I need from them to be truly happy in this life.

I have neglected my extended family! I have loved seeing my uncles, aunts, cousins, and all others I haven't seen in years. I was delighted to see them and have been truly touched by the love I feel for them. I feel grateful and honored for love they feel for my dad and my whole family. Our family connections are deeper and stronger than I once thought. Thank you for being a part of our lives. I can feel how much you care for my father and it gives me strength.

The silly stuff I learned from my dad are as follows: golf balls are NOT just for golf, trick or treat daddy tax IS a real thing, stuffing books down your pants WON'T protect your bottom from a spanking, and Big Foot DOES exist.

The dearest teachings I have learned are as follows: priesthood blessings are powerful, forgiveness is key, grudges will eat you alive. Always have love and respect for God, country, and your family. I have come to Dad for advice many times and usually his answer was this, "Everything is always alright in the end. If it isn't alright, then it's not the end." This week I have been relying on that advice. I will see my dad again. But, if you see him before I do please tell him how much I love him.

“ My grandpa was the hardest worker I know and taught me everything I know about how to get my hands dirty and putting in the hard work. Grandpa also loved spending time and making everyone laugh so much. He made sure we knew that he loved us so much. I love and miss you gramps

“ Saturdays with Gramps are what I always looked forward to— whether it was pulling weeds, mowing his lawn, mixing and pouring cement, rides n his truck to Home Depot, listing to stories in his office, or cracking a cold diet soda on his porch while we had a Barbie as he told the funniest jokes.
I will forever cherish the time I spent learning from his example and learning the meaning of good old' hard work and getting your hands dirty. He would always tell me if you're going to do the hard work, to do it the right way.
I love you gramps— you are and forever will be my hero

“ I’m doing the crossword puzzle at work today, thinking of him and his Sunday paper. The memories are endless, of course. The passing of Grandpa Clark only makes the love for my family grow stronger. We all carry a part of him within us. He makes us strong.

“ Today as we all have broken hearts, I am so thankful for these sweet pictures and sweet memories of Clark. He is a Great Man! He fought the ultimate battle early this morning! Winning the chapter of Life! As my mind was going crazy all last night, I feel an abundance of Spirit and great peace at this hard, hard time. I can only imagine and have reflected on the reunion of Clark with his family and friends on the other side of the veil. His Mother loving him, his Father proudly greeting him home, his brother and sister missing him, and friends. Especially his war friends that were lost so early in life. Imagine the LOVE and reunion! Today I have a full heart and am so Grateful to be part of each of your lives as Clarks family. THANK YOU. That is what life is all about. Please know I Love each of you! Thank you Clark and Regina for creating and sharing this Godly moment of life with all of us. Love each of you so much and HOPE each of you find the peace we need at this hard time. LOVE, Chris

“ The boys could never decide whether to call him “Grandpa Rock” or “Grandpa Fish.” He had a special gift for creating the best memories with his grandkids and great-grandkids. They loved every fishing trip and always looked forward to picking out Grandpa’s fancy rocks.

“ The sweetest most loving grandpa. He would do anything for his family, and worked his hardest at everything he did. He was a fighter. I love you grandpa.

He helped me through one of my most difficult times in my life. I remember I was just working on some odd construction and landscaping projects with him and he would say “just take it one step at a time.” Clark, you could develop the best relationship by working with him. That’s when you got the tidbits of wisdom. Those and other simple words have given me hope throughout life and helped me to carry on.

Clark was such a good person, absolutely the hardest worker ever. Love our talks when he came in the office. He will be so missed.
