Ely was full of life and brought joy and laughter to every person she encountered, her great sense of humor and witty personality were unforgettable. Her early life consisted of establishing herself in a career as a licensed beautician at Vine Street and Expressions In Hair Salon. She later held a position with Continental/United Airlines alongside her sister Jenny, traveling the world and creating the best memories of their lives together. No matter where life took her, Ely always found time for her family and God, although later in life her health wouldn't allow her to attend church physically or as often as she would have liked, she always showed great faith and gratitude even through the toughest of times. For many years she offered her service to the Greek Orthodox Church volunteering for the Greek Festival with her sisters. Ely had a big heart and was very selfless, She was most proud of her ability to care for her mother Anna in the last years of her life. She dedicated her life to her children and grandchildren, spending all the time she could building memories as the best

Yiayia and Mother she could be. Her children's achievements were her prized possessions and wanted nothing more than to see them succeed. She will be greatly missed by many.

“ Me and Eli went on vacations together. I was in her big Greek wedding. I am her baby girls god mother. We were in a tornado in Texas together on a vacation. We've been on a beach together and the birds were chasing us. We've done so much together that I will never forget our time spent together. You will be truly missed and loved. I loved you so much.

Unfortunately Ely and I never really got to know each~other however from the few times I was able to sit next to her or be in her presence we always shared a laugh at something stupid or just downright silly. I loved her sassy attitude! R.I.P Ely, and may the memories you made and shared with everyone for keep your presence here with everyone, today and always.
