“ In Loving Memory of Cesar

Today, we remember a dear colleague and friend, Cesar, who brought joy and laughter to our lives.

Cesar was always kind and happy, with a great sense of humor that kept us smiling. His love for cooking, homestyle meals and baking was evident in the delicious treats he shared with us, from baked goods to delightful desserts.

He often spoke highly of his daughters and sons, expressing his pride and love for them. His mother, who had passed away, was a significant part of his life, and he would often reminisce about her with a touch of sadness.

Towards the end of our time working together, Cesar faced health challenges, which led to his separation from employment. Despite this, we kept in touch through text messages, and he often expressed how much he missed our work group of friends. His sadness was palpable, but his spirit remained strong.

Cesar was not only a great colleague and friend but also an amazing person to my children. He invited them out for fun days at arcades, creating fun memories.

We honor him today for his kindness, humor, and the love he shared with all of us!! He will always be remembered fondly and missed.

“ I worked with Cesar in 2016 when I recently moved from California, he approached to me and not only offered me help but also offered me his friendship when I didn't know anyone there. In that time I remember having a car accident and he stopped and stayed with me while my brother arrived, he was super kind and always caring for others. After I stopped working there we kept in touch through Facebook and everytime we would talk he would call me "Gloria Trevi" (like the singer) due to my rebellious hair, and that's something that I would keep in my mind forever. Rest in peace my friend.
