

Kathryn Ann Sudbury (Spray)

February 9, 1948 - July 8, 2020

Born February 9th, 1948 Salt Lake City, Utah

Died July 8th, 2020 Draper, Utah

Kathryn Ann Spray, a lifelong mother, was reunited with her parents, both heavenly and earthly, on July 8th, 2020. Her last few weeks, though difficult and confusing for her, showed her dedication to her life's calling as she asked constantly, "Where are my kids?" She has been freed from her struggles and enabled to watch over her children, unimpeded, like she always wanted to do.

Kathy's lifelong passion for family was evidenced in her love for weddings and children. She was married at the young age of 19 to her high school sweetheart, Glen Sudbury, less than three months after his return from a two-year mission. Glen proposed twice, once before he left and once after he returned. Kathy accepted both proposals, waiting for two years for the return of her sweetheart.

Kathy worked as a dentist's assistant until her first child was born. This was the beginning of her full-time job as a homemaker, where she excelled in her passion. She was known for her homemade whole wheat bread and waffles and impressive seamstress skills. Kathy was creative, and put her creativity to work creating gifts and experiences for those around her.

Kathy decorated her house with her creations and other objects of her passion. She had a wall dedicated to pictures of her four daughters in their wedding dresses and her sweet son Matthew. She loved antiques, always saying she could feel the stories they told.

Kathy was a dedicated mother and grandmother, always actively involved in her children's and grandchildren's lives. Kathy's maternal instincts extended to her children's friends, always ready to have fun with and create fun for them. Kathy was able to connect with children and teenagers by getting on their level. She was the type of grandmother who was on the floor playing and laughing with her grandchildren.

Kathy was an extraordinary mother with unique children, who needed her to go above and beyond when it came to taking care of them. She was up to the challenge, and created a home for her children, advocating for them with all the strength she had, always.

Kathy is survived by her children, Jennifer Archibald (Cary), Juliet Whicker (Jeff), Heidi Taylor (Schott), Anna Marie Peterson (Jason) and Matthew Glen Sudbury, and sisters Jeannie Lancaster and Robyn (Don) Shelton.

Kathy was welcomed home by her parents, Beverly Irene Barham and Robert Osborne Spray, her husband, Glen Eugene Sudbury, her son in law, Cary Archibald, her sister, Michelle Spray and brother in law, David Lancaster.

“ I do not know a time when I did not know Kathy Sudbury. We grew up knowing her and her family as my parents would take us to visit them from time to time. Then in 1995, we moved to a home in West Jordan. Six months later Glen and Kathy Sudbury moved into the same neighborhood.

We had the privilege of living around the corner and down the street and attending church with them for 9 years.

My husband would tell people in our ward that they were his brother in law's in-laws. Kathy often told people about knowing me when I was so little with great big eyes.

She came to my rescue one time that remains a special memory. I had just had twins and was home for a few days. I had some very bad pains. We called the doctor. He told us to get to the ER as soon as we could. My husband called my mom to come help with our 5 kids, but it would take her a few minutes to get to our house.

Kathy had been out and about when she had a prompting to stop by my house. She couldn't think why so she figured that she was supposed to bring food to us. Just as we got off the phone with my mom we heard a knock on the door. There was Kathy holding boxes of chicken and potatoes.

We told her that I needed to get to the ER right then. We handed her the two babies and gave instructions for helping out the older 3 and left.

She was able to be there until my mom came to take over.

Kathy was a special spirit and very in tune with inspiration.
