

Lou Jeane Peterson Grant

August 6, 1933 - August 17, 2013

Lou Jeane Peterson Grant, loving Wife, Mother, Sister, Grandmother and Friend, passed away on the evening of August 17th, 2013, due to complications from Leukemia. We will miss her dearly!! We send our love heavenward, where she is reunited with loved ones who preceded her in death.

Born on August 6, 1933 (in Utah), Lou Jeane lived a long and faithful life as a member of the LDS Church... 80 years to be exact. For 60 of those years, she was married to Richard G. Grant, from Southern California. They were married on December 23, 1953, in the LDS St. George Temple.

Lou Jeane was a loving mother to six children. She is survived by 5 of those children; Doug (Anna), Karen, Craig, Kathryn, and Richard (Mary Anne)... along with her husband Richard and 10 Grandchildren; Logan, Shane, Robert, Adam, Melissa, Kamryn, Jadyn, Harrison, Kade and Hunter... as well as two sisters, Joy and Marian. Preceding her in death, was her son, David Glenn as well as her parents and two sisters.

She had many loves in life. She loved spending time with her children and grandchildren, sewing, reading, gardening and cooking. She is famous for her Sunday pot roast, which would cook for hours and be gone in minutes... as well as for her amazing whole wheat rolls and bread. She loved finding creative ways to add zucchini from her garden to many of her amazing dishes. She also loved to read good books including church publications and a myriad of classics and novels. First and foremost she loved the scriptures.

Lou Jeane loved people!! Her active involvement in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints allowed her to make many, many dear friends. While she resided in California, several of those friends were actively involved in her day-to-day life. We thank them for their care and concern for her and her loving husband. California will always be the place she called “home” as it is where she raised her children and planted her roots years ago. She and her husband were amazing gardeners and always had an abundance of fruit and vegetables which they raised, harvested, enjoyed and also “put up” for future years. On their California property they maintained 18 fruit trees in addition to a large garden.

Lou Jeane was a school teacher in her younger years, graduating with a major in English, from BYU. She had beautiful, immaculate handwriting and a talent for articulating her thoughts in letters to her scores of friends and family. She saved all of the letters and notes sent to her throughout her life, a testimony of her love for others. She also liked to clip and share important articles from the local paper with her children and grandchildren.

The Gospel of Jesus Christ was the cornerstone to Lou Jeane’s life. She spoke of it’s truthfulness and taught her children it’s teachings. She will be remembered for her steadfast hold to Christ’s doctrine and her belief and love for Him. May she find peace and rest in His arms and comfort in knowing that she lived by His teachings. We will always love and miss you Lou Jeane! Until we meet again...

“ Lou Jeane was always happy to serve whenever she was asked to. I remember when the Grant's were in our ward and we were assigned to clean the apartment of someone who had been sick along with a couple of other women. Lou Jeane arrived with her mop and broom and brought a cheerful "Let's get this show on the road" attitude. She didn't complain but always seemed to be positive, and her attitude was contagious. She was upbeat and funny and very down-to-earth.

Once when she and Dick visited Utah after moving to California, she bought bushels of fruit and canning supplies so she could go home and put up her peaches and pears. However, at the California border their motor home was stopped and they were told that the Utah fruit would not be allowed in. There was no way Lou Jeane was going back to Utah, and under no circumstances would she let the fruit go to waste. They pulled their motor home over to the side of the road and she spent the rest of the day bottling the fruit right then and there. What a great gal!

We are "co-grandma's" to Harrison, Kade and Hunter. Dear Lou Jeane, you will be missed.

“Lou Jeane was my Beehive leader in church when I was 12. She was so kind! In fact, she let our little Beehive class sleep over at her home for one of our activities. We were a rambunctious group and after Lou Jeane went to sleep, we decided it would be funny if we toilet papered the inside of her home. Well, the next morning, instead of being angry, Lou Jeane just calmly helped us clean it all up. I felt terrible but learned about forgiveness from her example of treating us with patience and respect even when we did not deserve it.

Several years later, my sister married Lou Jeane's son Richard. So for nearly two decades I have heard many times of her dedication to the gospel and of her countless hours serving in the Oakland temple. What a terrific example of endurance Lou Jeane has been.

We will miss you Lou Jeane!

“Lou Jeane was a special friend from many years ago in the 41st Ward here in Orem. We were Leaders in the Beehive Class. I think there were 12 girls and many did not come out to the classes & activities, so we would do a lot of visiting. We loved those girls and Lou Jeane always had a special treat or handout for them so they knew we cared. We had girls about the same age and we would laugh and cry together about some of their challenges. She liked it when Elder M. Russell Ballard came to Stake Conference and in his talk mentioned that teenagers were just half-baked. Lou Jeane would always laugh & ask if I thought the girls were still half-baked? A Christmas letter would always come telling the many things that she and Richard had been doing that year. It wore me out just reading what she had accomplished. I am grateful for her testimony of the Gospel and the opportunity I had to get to know her and be taught by her. Thank you Lou Jeane. Love Carolyn & Garlan & Carmen Fitzgarrald
