“ Buck was a great man.

A great father, grandfather, and great-grandfather and grateful to have had the opportunity to be apart of the family. Will always remember times of camping, fishing, trap shooting and hanging out at the house drinking Dr. Pepper while sitting in the chairs in front of the windows in the living room. His home was always open when I needed a place to stay while I was traveling and always appreciated the In-N-Out burger runs.

Loved hearing his stories of when he was younger and reminiscing of the good ol' days. It has been a pleasure to have known him for as long as I've had.

He will be missed.

“ My Grandpa Buck has blessed my life in so many ways. Some of my most favorite childhood memories are at grandma and grandpa’s house. I spent a lot of time watching him work on saddles and other things in his garage. He could fix or make anything. He was so talented. I have several keepsakes that he made for me. Every time I saw him I was greeted with a strong hug as he asked “how’s the prettiest girl in California?” He said that to all his granddaughters wherever they lived. He always found little ways to make us feel special. Even after my grandma died, he took over the duty of sending us our birthday cards. Grandpa knew I loved crab and would cook me special crab dinners. A funny memory I have, is one year he got a new puppy and asked me what he should name her. I told him “Roxy,” he said, “No! Roxy is a sexy name, not a name for my hunting dog!” We both had a good laugh. A few days later I asked him what he decided to name her and he looked at me with a smile and said “Roxy.”

Grandpa was strong, a no nonsense kinda guy, that nobody ever messed with. I’ve never known another person who had that kind of presence. He worked hard, was honest, loyal and loved his family. His home is surrounded by pictures of my grandma, his kids, grandkids, and great grandkids. I will miss his distinct voice, his hand squeezes and winks. He was a great man and will be dearly missed.
