“ Wow. This explains a lot. I had no idea he passed away. Ive been trying to reach out to him with no luck obviously. Now I know why. My heart aches so bad right now. All our missed lunches because I was to busy with life and grandkids will never be made up now. I hope he knew just how much I love him. When ever anyone would ask about my father I would say well I have two. The man that helped create me and the man who took the time to help raise me. Lynn will always be "my father" to me. I remeber he made rabbit or deer stew and I couldnt and wouldnt eat it cause all I could think about was Thumper and Bambi. Trips to the cabin and going to Grandma and Grandpa Walters house to watch the bats fly. I remeber 2nd grade we lived on Larriate Dr in West Valley and we had a German Shepard named Smoky. I would make mud pies in the drive way. I dont ever remember him getting upset, not once. I'm going to cherish all my memories of him close to my heart. I just wish I could have made more adult memories. Our last conversation he was telling me how he and Clint finished up the cabin. Rewired plumbed the whole caboot. I said yea a working toilet I hope. We laughed. I hated that out house lol. I love you Dad and I hope you knew that. Rest in peace till we meet again. Tell gma and papa hello.

*Hey, its me Brandy. I had no idea he passed away. I'm so numb right now. I've been texting the number he gave me, looking to see if he's been active on Facebook etc. I even drove down Lemonwood st to see if I could see is yellow truck last week. He is and always will be the man I call dad. I dont even know what to say. I wish I would have known and I would have been there for the services. I'm so sorry Cole. Love you big brother.

“ Lynn is a very dear friend to many of us in Tabiona, UT. He is and will be missed dearly by all of his friends at the Sagebrush Inn Cafe where he visited regularly while staying at his place in Tabiona. He adored his wife and grandchildren. Lynn will forever be in our hearts as he now rests in peace.

Love always,
Your friends at the Sagebrush Inn.
To many to mention and I do not want to miss anyone.

“ Didn't get to know Lynn right off the bat until a few years after the friendship started with Debbie. Our first time meeting him was very enjoyable. You could tell how much he loved his family. As years have passed he continued to be supportive, caring, always with a great sense of humor and a smile. It was enjoyable to get to know such a great man. He will be missed.

“ Lynn and Debbie have been "neighbors over the fence" for about 30 years. Being next door with parallel driveways, we had ample opportunities to visit "over the fence"! Thirty years of doing this made us friends - not just neighbors. We all knew the ups and downs in each of our friend's lives in those brief visits. Keith was usually working on a car engine when the visit started, and Lynn was always the one to tease him about whatever it was he was trying to do. But - there was always the "have you tried ....this or this...? well, I've got something that might work. Let's try it. And there was Lynn bringing over the tools or whatever and helping to find the problem. I would always know what was going on because I could hear Lynn laughing even in the house.

And I always got a wave from the yellow pick-up truck whether it was coming in or going out. It got me looking at every yellow pick-up just to see if it was Lynn. Of course we had to tease him about being a "show off" when it first appeared in his driveway.

Even when we knew he wasn't feeling good - there was still the smile, the laugh and the teasing voice. We'll miss the smile - a lot.

The neighbors - Keith & Nikki Hiatt.

“ Lynn is the kind of man every man wants to be. Smart, wise & charming. A gentleman by every definition of the word. He was a hard working straight shooter & I will always admire him. He raised two awesome boys, mostly on his own. He then took on the task of caring for & raising grandchildren, my children when I was unable. We had our differences but he always had & will forever have my deepest respect. His love, his humor, & his heartwarming smile will be missed. Until we meet again my friend.

“ Lynn Walters

I called him dad, he was not only my father, he was also my O so very best friend.

If you ever met him and got to know him, I'm sure you would agree that that he was a truly a beautiful soul.

Being his son give me a special perspective of this wonderful person's heart.

He raised my brother and i the best he knew how. The three of us went through all life's ups and Bumps, but one thing never changed, my brother and i knew we were so loved.

He never raised an angry hand to us, and no matter how bad we messed up , he was always always there without fail, and if you know cole and i, I think that alone qualifies him as a saint.

Through the years he has been a rock, my rock. I couldn't count the times he has been there to pick me up dust me off, not once with judgement or ridicule, just a gentle push to get me up and going again.

I have spent a lifetime fishing, golfing, going on adventures. working on projects, eating drinking, talking, but mostly laughing at his arsenal of corny jokes, and i wouldn't take on second back. I can't recall one memory that I didn't enjoy his company, we always got along so well. the picture you see to the left was taken at starvation reservoir 2013, that day we both caught our limit of some really big rainbow trout, one of the best days ever. could tell story after story of the great times we had and i shall treasure every one. i'm sure if you spent any time with him you know exactly what i mean.

My dad was't a tall guy, but his heart made him the biggest man i ever met. I'll spend the rest of my years looking up to him, and trying to live up to to his example of what it means to to be a man or human in general. i'm proud to have his blood in my veins.

He showed me how to live, love, laugh, and finally pass. he was truly brave and passed with dignity and grace. i'm so thankful that he is no longer in pain, and in a better place. I know he is in heaven, he is with god his mom and dad and the rest of his family that are there.

I'll miss him more than words can say, and will till it's time for me to go.

And hope with all my heart that we can be together once again.....

I want to thank everyone for the condolences and support.

I love you all that's for real.

Hey big brother. I'm so sorry I had no idea he passed away. Ive been texting his # and searching Facebook for him off and on through the last few years. Last week I even drove down Lemonwood St to see if I could see his yellow truck. My heart aches so bad right now. I wish I had known and I would have been there. He's the man I call dad and always will... I'm so numb right now. Love you Clint even though you and Cole were in my life a short time I'll always think of you two as my older brothers. Love you

“ I don't have any pictures of Lynn but the one that stands out in my mind is him in his Navy uniform he sure looked important. And I do remember him eating with chop sticks that too impressed me. He became my 1st brother-in-law and a true friend We have ran into each other once in a while over the years. Clint and Cole would fill me in on what was happening as they grew. I really enjoyed Lynn and his mellow yet funny personality he could always make me laugh, I will miss his posts on face book and the stories about his cabin. I truly Loved him and will miss his smile. God Blessed me with knowing and being apart of his life.

Lynn was my favorite comedian. I feel blessed to remember some of the best times I ever had with him. He never had a negative bone in his body and I always looked forward to being with him. When we were both divorced, we would go out dancing and make fun of our situation. He tolerated my golfing and praised me when I play a good round. I missed him when he went into the Navy and I miss him so much now, but happy that he is with Mom and Dad, Shane, Dee, and a sister neither of us never knew. See you again, Bro. Your Sis, Karen
