“ As I sit here and reflect about our relationship. I remember you as a child and if I wanted to go somewhere mom would always sent you with me, you were quiet, shy and would do some crazy things like tying a rope around a pole and playing tug of war with Ed and Ben they would be pulling the rope so hard and couldn't budge it from you, and you would stand there and they thought you were so strong. Then when I was 7 months Oregon and we were in a car accident you got out of the back seat and out of the car to go pounce on the girl who hit us. Thank you for telling me that I'm not always the boss, even though I think I am. I'm really going to try not to be so bossy. And you always knew how to get under my skin and piss me off. But I guess that's what sisterly love is all about. Now all I have are memories. I'm thankful that I was there with you til the end. Now dad mom and Ed are hugging you and I can just imagine the shy kid just smiling.. You impacted my life in many ways... love you forever baby sister

“ They're so many memories I have with my aunt Margaret I could write a novel, but what I will remember her most for is her loving feisty humorous nature. The loss of this beautiful women is huge in my family, we will miss her terribly. I know she is now in heaven with grandpa, grandma & uncle Eddie. Heaven gained another angel that will look after us and guide us until we see them again.
RIP Aunt Margaret I love you ❤️
